

ACGME

ANNUAL REPORT

2025-2026

THE ACCREDITATION COUNCIL FOR GRADUATE MEDICAL EDUCATION (ACGME)

is a private, non-profit organization that reviews and accredits graduate medical education (residency and fellowship) programs, and the institutions that sponsor them, in the US. In 1981, the ACGME was established from a consensus in the academic medical community for the need for an independent accrediting body. Accreditation is achieved through a peer-review process overseen by specialty Review Committees composed of volunteer physicians and public members. Institutions and programs are reviewed annually for compliance with the ACGME's Institutional Requirements, Common Program Requirements, and specialty- or subspecialty-specific Program Requirements. The ACGME also confers recognition on Sponsoring Institutions or programs in compliance with the applicable Recognition Requirements. Sponsoring Institutions or programs with or seeking ACGME recognition must be accredited by the ACGME.

Mission

The Mission of the ACGME is to improve health care and population health by assessing and enhancing the quality of resident and fellow physicians' education through advancements in accreditation and education.

Vision

We envision a health care system in which the Quadruple Aim* has been realized. We aspire to advance a transformed system of graduate medical education with global reach that is:

- Competency-based with customized professional development and identity formation for all physicians;
- Led by inspirational faculty role models overseeing supervised, humanistic, clinical educational experiences;
- Immersed in evidence-based, data-driven, clinical learning and care environments defined by excellence in clinical care, safety, cost-effectiveness, and professionalism;
- Located in health care delivery systems equitably meeting local and regional community needs; and,
- Graduating residents and fellows who strive for continuous mastery and altruistic professionalism throughout their careers, placing the needs of patients and their communities first.

Values

- Honesty and Integrity
- Accountability, Transparency, and Fairness
- Excellence and Innovation
- Stewardship and Service
- Leadership and Collaboration
- Engagement of Stakeholders

Message from the President and Chief Executive Officer

Reflecting on the past year must begin with a huge thank you to the entire graduate medical education (GME) community. You have brought remarkable creativity, patience, perseverance, and resilience to a series of unforeseen challenges.

Rapid and consequential changes in health care, education, federal and state policy, and other aspects of society remind all of us about the importance of what we do. In this context, the ACGME continues steadfast efforts to ensure the quality of GME—and to continually improve it—to help enhance care and health outcomes across the US.

Alongside these ongoing responsibilities, we have focused a good deal of effort engaging with policymakers and responding to federal inquiries relating to GME and accreditation. We have also expanded efforts that align with certain federal priorities—particularly in fulfilling several commitments aimed at enhancing nutrition education. The ACGME has also intensified work to support expansion of GME in rural areas, where access to care is particularly difficult, through expanded outreach, assistance, and partnerships.

Another theme this past year has been a focus on reducing administrative burden for institutions and programs. Initial actions have included suspending selected requirements, reducing data collection, and simplifying certain processes. The goals of burden reduction and simplification have also underpinned the current major revisions of the Common Program Requirements and the Institutional Requirements.

One of the ACGME's most gratifying and impactful activities is convening the GME community. The 2026 Annual Educational Conference drew nearly 5,000 participants for the second straight year. Dr. Amy Edmondson's keynote, "Why Psychological Safety and Teaming Matter in Medical Education," inspired attendees to create cultures in which every voice is valued and improvement is driven by openness, humility, and collaboration. We launched a new conference feature this year, Arts and Humanities in Medicine, to provide enrichment, support well-being, and strengthen interpersonal connections. This first year's focus on music included video performances and a live cello performance by family medicine resident Dr. Elizabeth White.

In June, we convened to focus on the transition to a single accreditation system, discussing successes, challenges, and ideas for accelerating the cultural maturation of this still-new system. The welcome opportunity to connect, collaborate, learn, and brainstorm will catalyze broader discussion and planning. In addition, our many educational activities, such as the Leadership Skills Training Program for Chief Residents, Back to Bedside, and numerous faculty development courses and programs, meaningfully connect subsets of the GME community.

Looking forward, the strategic planning process launched in early 2026 is generating discussion, debate, and optimism, including input from the broad GME community. We will share highlights of the plan at the 2027 Annual Educational Conference in San Antonio, Texas.

The work of the ACGME relies heavily on the dedication and expertise of hundreds of volunteers contributing thousands of hours. I send deep gratitude to the Board of Directors and its Councils, Review and Recognition Committees, Rural and Underserved GME Advisory Group, Coordinator Advisory Group, and all those volunteering on task forces and other committees. I also want to recognize the ACGME's amazing staff, who provide the backbone, experience, knowledge, skills, dedication, professionalism, persistence, and resilience to serve our essential Mission now and into the future..

With gratitude,

Debra F. Weinstein, MD

Message from the Chair of the Board of Directors

As I conclude my two years as Chair of the Board of Directors, I am more convinced than ever of the importance of the Mission of the ACGME to improve the health of the public by enhancing and improving both resident and fellow education and the accreditation process. I am proud of the progress we have made through thoughtful collaboration across the GME community. It is this shared commitment that enables us to fulfill our contract with the public and engender their trust.

The past year unfolded amid continued changes across health care, medical education, and the broader policy landscape. Through it all, the ACGME remained guided by its Mission in making strategic decisions. I have been continually inspired by the dedication of the educators, physician learners, volunteers, staff members, and leaders who work to ensure that GME responds to the needs of patients and communities while maintaining the highest standards of excellence.

The Board's most important responsibility is helping the organization navigate change while remaining grounded in its core values. During my time as Chair, I have had the privilege of witnessing the ACGME strengthen its impact through innovation, collaboration, and an unwavering commitment to continuous improvement. Whether addressing emerging workforce needs, supporting educational innovation, advancing digital transformation, or fostering meaningful dialogue across the GME and broader academic medicine community, the organization has demonstrated both resilience and vision.

This year's accomplishments reflect the collective strength of that community. Educational programs, conferences, accreditation activities, and stakeholder convenings brought together diverse perspectives in pursuit of a common goal: preparing physicians to provide exceptional care in an increasingly complex health care environment. The ACGME's ability to serve as a trusted convener and catalyst for improvement remains one of its greatest strengths.

I am particularly grateful to my colleagues on the Board. Their wisdom, integrity, expertise, and dedication have shaped every significant decision and strengthened the organization immeasurably. Serving alongside such accomplished and thoughtful leaders has been a great privilege. I also extend my sincere appreciation to the many volunteers who serve on Review and Recognition Committees, councils, task forces, and advisory groups. Their contributions exemplify the spirit of service that underpins GME.

My deep thanks also extends to President and CEO Dr. Debra Weinstein, whom I have had the privilege of working with since the beginning of her tenure. She arrived at a difficult moment in the health care, academic, and political world. She has demonstrated great grace and wisdom under pressure and has emerged as a thoughtful and visionary leader. I also thank the entire ACGME staff, whose professionalism, creativity, and commitment continue to advance the organization and position it for future success.

As I leave this role, I do so with great confidence in the future of the ACGME. The challenges facing health care are significant, but so are the opportunities to innovate, collaborate, and improve. The strength of partnerships across GME, combined with the dedication of those who support this work, give me tremendous optimism.

Thank you for the honor of serving as Chair. I am grateful for the colleagues with whom I have shared this journey and look forward to seeing the continued advancement of GME and the positive impact the ACGME will have on patients, communities, and the physicians of tomorrow.

With gratitude,

Accreditation

Launched in September 2025, ACGME LINC [Listening, Information, News, Collaboration] provides an opportunity for the graduate medical education (GME) community to interact with and hear from ACGME representatives, and to receive updates and information on ACGME activities. Topics include common citations and how to respond, Common Program Requirements updates, and what to expect during a site visit. Links to upcoming sessions and recordings of previous sessions can be found on the ACGME website.

The ACGME continued its efforts to reduce the administrative burden associated with accreditation by suspending several Common Program Requirements and eliminating many specialty-/subspecialty-specific requirements around faculty qualifications to allow more flexibility.

Nutrition Task Force

Building upon ongoing efforts, the ACGME is taking concrete steps to operationalize and enhance physician competencies related to nutrition across specialties. The ACGME Board of Directors commissioned a Nutrition Task Force that will provide oversight and guidance as the organization works to fulfill these commitments, while ensuring accountability via updates to the Board.

Rural and Underserved GME

The ACGME established a Concurrent Application Pilot program aimed at expediting the review of Sponsoring Institution and program applications, particularly for those with a mission to serve rural and underserved areas. There are currently eight participating Sponsoring Institutions. The pilot period was extended through June 2027 to allow more Sponsoring Institutions to participate.

The ACGME Rural Track Program Designation grew to 57 programs in six specialties/subspecialties across 26 states, and two in Puerto Rico.

The ACGME held 10 virtual Rural and Underserved GME Interest Group sessions, and one in-person session at the 2026 Annual Educational Conference.

Standalone FAQ documents were removed from the ACGME website, and relevant FAQs were integrated into all Common Program, specialty-/subspecialty-specific Program, Institutional, and Recognition Requirement documents.

Work on the major revision of the Common Program Requirements continued, with feedback gathered from the GME community via surveys and a focused session at the 2026 Annual Educational Conference.

Five ACGME Blog posts were published in the new Pathways to Practice: Stories from Underserved in Medicine series, featuring current residents/fellows and recent graduates sharing their experiences and the impact on future or current practice in rural or underserved areas.

Back to Bedside

The ACGME selected 23 resident- and fellow-led teams to receive grant funding as part of the fifth cycle of Back to Bedside, an initiative developed by residents and fellows to support innovative projects that enhance the physician-patient connection, improve the clinical learning environment in GME, and increase meaning in work. Winners will present their projects after a two-year development cycle at the 2028 ACGME Annual Educational Conference.

Digital Transformation

The ACGME's work on its digital transformation journey continued over the 2025-2026 academic year, with additional features and enhancements.

The rollout of ACGME Cloud | Analytics continued, with enhancements to the existing public dashboards and introduction of new dashboards for designated institutional officials (DIOs), program directors, and coordinators, including dashboards for ACGME Surveys, ACGME International Surveys, operational metrics, Milestones, and more.

The ACGME Cloud | Analytics – Analytics Explorer tool launched in fall 2025 for DIOs, program directors, and coordinators, providing intuitive and customizable exploration capabilities using aggregate survey data for their ACGME-accredited Sponsoring Institutions and programs.

In April 2026, the ACGME rolled out a unified user experience across ACGME Cloud and the Accreditation Data System (ADS), which streamlines navigation across the two platforms, and includes an app switcher to easily move between products, as well as a smart search tool for key roles.

Arts and Humanities in Medicine

2026 was the inaugural year of the ACGME's Arts and Humanities in Medicine program, celebrating the powerful intersection of creativity and the lived experiences of the GME community.

After an open call for submissions, 20 musical performances were featured in a video at the 2026 Annual Educational Conference.

Elizabeth White, DO, a family medicine resident at Medical City Fort Worth, was selected to perform in person at the 2026 Annual Educational Conference, playing J.S. Bach Cello Suite No. 1.

The 2026 conference included a session called “Creative Writing and Your Medical Career,” featuring physician-authors whose literary works have been shaped by their careers in medicine. Conference attendees had the opportunity to engage with the authors and learn how medicine influences their writing.

Educational Programming

The 2026 Annual Educational Conference by the numbers:

- 4,956 total attendees
- 1,500+ first time attendees
- 400+ speakers
- 137 sessions
- 77 posters
- 104 exhibitor booths
- 7 sponsors
- 700+ food packs donated to families in need
- 100 books donated to Rady Children's Hospital

Learn at ACGME enrolled 5,176 new learners.

More than 4,000 coordinators participated in Self-Empowerment for Coordinators workshops.

Coordinator training modules on Learn at ACGME were accessed more than 6,300 times.

Institutions

During Academic Year 2025-2026, there were 908 institutions that sponsored graduate medical education (GME) programs. Of these, 66.3 percent sponsored multiple programs, while 27.3 percent sponsored a single program. Six-point-four percent of Sponsoring Institutions had no accredited programs, the majority of these representing newly accredited sponsors with programs that had not yet applied for or achieved Initial Accreditation. In the last year, the number of accredited Sponsoring Institutions decreased by six. Sponsoring Institutions used 11,354 participating sites to teach residents and fellows.

Distribution of Sponsoring Institutions
Multiple-Program Sponsors	602	66.3%
Single-Program Sponsors	248	27.3%
Sponsors with No Programs	58	6.4%
TOTAL	908	100.0%

Sponsoring Institutions Accreditation Status
Initial Accreditation	105	11.6%
Continued Accreditation	799	88.0%
Probationary Accreditation	3	0.3%
Withdrawal of Accreditation	1	0.1%
TOTAL	908	100.0%

Programs

During Academic Year 2025-2026, there were 14,237 accredited programs, of which 6,283 were residency programs and 7,954 were fellowship programs. Additionally, 568 programs were newly accredited during the academic year.

Programs Accreditation Status
Initial Accreditation	1,300	9.1%
Continued Accreditation	12,871	90.4%
Probationary Accreditation	17	0.1%
Withdrawal of Accreditation	49	0.3%
TOTAL	14,237	100.0%

Notes: Withdrawal of Accreditation includes closed programs or programs which voluntarily withdrew their accreditation. Percentages may not add up to 100% due to rounding.

Note: Count of programs includes all accredited medically related specialty programs.

Residency Program: A structured educational activity comprising a series of clinical and/or other learning experiences in GME, designed to prepare physicians to enter the unsupervised practice of medicine in a primary specialty.

Fellowship Program: A program that provides advanced education and training in progressive levels of subspecialization following completion of education and training in a primary specialty and, if applicable, a related subspecialty. It is a structured educational activity comprising a series of clinical and/or other learning experiences designed to prepare physicians to enter the unsupervised practice of medicine in a subspecialty or sub-subspecialty.

Programs with Osteopathic Recognition
Of the 14,237 accredited programs, 283 have Osteopathic Recognition.

Recognition Status
Initial Recognition	36	12.7%
Continued Recognition	240	84.8%
Withdrawal of Recognition	7	2.5%
TOTAL	283	100.0%

ACADEMIC YEAR 2025-2026 REVIEW AND RECOGNITION COMMITTEE MEETINGS BY THE NUMBERS:

- 30 Review and Recognition Committees with a total of approximately 400 volunteer committee members
- Committees held a total of 86 meetings to conduct Sponsoring Institution and program accreditation and recognition reviews

Residents and Fellows

In Academic Year 2025-2026, there were 172,746 active residents and fellows in 14,237 programs.

Active Residents and Fellows by Medical School Type

Of the 172,746 active residents and fellows in ACGME-accredited programs during Academic Year 2025-2026, the majority, at 56.5 percent, graduated from Liaison Committee on Medical Education (LCME)-accredited medical schools in the US. International medical school graduates make up 24.6 percent, while 18.8 percent are graduates of osteopathic medical schools.

Medical School Type	Number of Residents/Fellows
US LCME-Accredited Medical School	97,533
International Medical School	42,423
Osteopathic Medical School	32,556
Canadian Medical School	148
Medical School Unknown	86

Note: The ACGME's fiscal year runs from January 1-December 31. The figures in this report represent ACGME audited results from Fiscal Year 2025.

During 2025, total operating revenues for the ACGME amounted to $92.2 million.

The majority of operating revenues (85.8 percent) were obtained from annual fees paid by Sponsoring Institutions at the beginning of the calendar year. Application fees contributed 3.4 percent of the operating revenues, while conferences and workshops accounted for 7.7 percent. ACGME Global Services contributed 1.7 percent of revenue. Other revenue primarily consisted of $0.8 million in management fees received from ACGME International.

2025 Operating Revenue
Annual Fees	$79,129,262	85.8%
Application Fees	$3,155,430	3.4%
Conferences and Workshops	$7,102,812	7.7%
Global Services	$1,593,600	1.7%
Other Revenue	$1,228,831	1.3%
TOTAL REVENUES	$92,209,935	100.0%

Note: Percentages may not add up to 100% due to rounding.

During 2025, total operating expenses amounted to $90.8 million.

The largest expense was salaries and benefits, comprising 58.8 percent of the annual operating expenses. Facilities accounted for 16.1 percent of expenses, and outside services represented 8.4 percent. Additionally, 6.0 percent of the expenses were attributed to travel and meetings, and 5.5 percent to conferences and workshops. Other expenses were mostly from $3.8 million in program realignment costs.

2025 Operating Expenses
Salaries and Benefits	$53,382,435	58.8%
Facilities	$14,598,046	16.1%
Outside Services	$7,659,990	8.4%
Travel and Meetings	$5,468,661	6.0%
Conferences and Workshops	$4,994,443	5.5%
Other Expenses	$4,744,766	5.2%
TOTAL EXPENSES	$90,848,341	100.0%

Other income/expenses of $14.9 million included a net investment gain of $15.6 million, partially offset by $0.9 million of post-retirement benefits.

Based on operating results and other income/expenses, net income in 2025 was $16.2 million. This includes $1.4 million of net earnings from operations and $14.9 million from the net of other income/expenses.

Note: Figures rounded to the nearest $0.1 million.

Summary of Results
Operating Revenues	$92,209,935
Operating Expenses*	$90,848,341
NET EARNINGS FROM OPERATIONS	$1,361,594
Other Income and Expenses (Investment and Other)	$14,858,726
Net Income	$16,220,320

*Operating expenses do not include capitalized expenditures related to systems development.

MEMBER ORGANIZATIONS

Each of the Member Organizations of the ACGME nominates individuals to be considered to serve on the ACGME Board of Directors.

American Board of Medical Specialties

American Hospital Association

American Medical Association

Association of American Medical Colleges

Council of Medical Specialty Societies

American Osteopathic Association

American Association of Colleges of Osteopathic Medicine

The ACGME accredits Sponsoring Institutions and residency and fellowship programs, confers recognition on additional formats or components, and dedicates resources to initiatives addressing areas of importance in graduate medical education. The ACGME employs best practices, research, and advancements across the continuum of medical education to demonstrate its dedication to enhancing health care and graduate medical education.

The ACGME is committed to improving the patient care delivered by resident and fellow physicians today, and in their future independent practice, and to doing so in clinical learning environments characterized by excellence in care, safety, and professionalism.
